Learning Journals

There will be an opportunity for you to come in and see your child's learning journal next Tuesday (30th) after school. Apart from reading their weekly reflections on their learning, it provides you with an up-to-date opportunity to examine what level they are working at in Reading, Writing and Maths and a chance to look at their next steps in learning. Please note there will not be enough time to discuss issues with teachers during this time, although should you wish to discuss anything about your child's learning you can arrange a follow-up meeting at a convenient time for the teacher.

Note to parents in KS1 about our stargazing night

You may well be aware that we have been trying to organise a good night to have a star gazing evening for families at the school to finish off our topic on space. This is a difficult thing to arrange, due to many factors that are out of our control (the power to change the weather, the orbits of planets and the phases of the moon are beyond our powers sadly, although Mrs French tried). We are looking for an evening with good clear skies at the same time as good visibility of things of interest. We are thinking of doing the evening on either Tuesday or Wednesday evening next week (30th and 31st) and we will let you know if one of these dates will be the one on the day. We're afraid that any more notice than this is not realistic, and if you can't come along we will fully understand. The evening will start at 7.30 and will finish at 9. We were hoping to have the evening before the clocks changed but that has been impossible (mainly due to a new moon and recent bad weather), so it will be a little later than originally planned. Should either of these dates prove impossible we will carry the event over into the start of next term and look for another favourable set of dates.

Vacancy for a mid-day supervisor

We currently have a vacancy for a mid-day supervisor within the school. The number of hours and days for this position are quite flexible, so please contact the school if you are interested. Application packs are available from the school office or via the school website.
